Nikki's Story

Why trust Nikki to know your struggle for hope?

When Nikki Min Yeong Abramson was five years old, her doctors told her she wouldn't live past her teens. Her diagnosis of mitochondrial myopathy—a rare muscle disease—caused her to live every day with purpose. As Nikki is also a Korean adoptee, her story is one that speaks of conquering life's changes and finding confidence in oneself by learning to appreciate what makes each of us different. Nikki's determination to choose hope in the midst of challenges gave her a passion for encouraging and motivating others to persevere.

Nikki began writing her story when she was bedridden after a devastating car accident and medical diagnosis of dystonia, a disease similar to Parkinson's that caused muscle spasms all over her body. This accident, right after graduating from college, changed her life.

Nikki's story is one of triumph in the face of adversity and an inspiration for anyone dealing with grief at the loss of shattered dreams. Now, Nikki is a teaching artist, educator, and sought after speaker, holding a Bachelor of Arts degree and a teaching license in elementary education, early childhood, and computers, keyboarding, and technology. Furthermore, Nikki is the founder of Renew Hope, LLC—a company dedicated to inspiring and empowering others through life's challenges.
